Dear Audrey -

Just a quick note - plans are changed concerning the London Film Festival. They will not show any film that has been publically shown in England. This conflicts with the showing of DR at Little Bit Ritzy. The programs had already been printed and to withdraw the film from the theatre so it could be shown at the festival was in my right but I felt was "politically incorrect" (as my lover would jokingly say). So I'm keeping it in the theatre + withdrawing it from the festival. This means we'll have to find another way to get it to England and you. I have your print now - let me know as soon as you have a way. I'll do the same.

Love Michelle
